Warnex Analytical Services is pleased to offer advanced analytical testing using UPLC[®] technology

With our new ACQUITY UPLC[®] System from Waters, we can improve the quality of your results while significantly reducing turnaround times. By outperforming traditional or optimized HPLC, the UPLC system delivers higher efficiencies with a much wider range of linear velocities, flow rates, and back-pressures.

UPLC technology, which can be used for the most demanding separations, is a highly robust, dependable, and reproducible system.

Most importantly, the UPLC system provides significantly reduced run times versus traditional HPLC systems.
